TRANSLATION, MEANING, CONTEXT This scripture says to “act justly” or do things with a sense of right and wrong. “Love mercy,” or embrace loving-kindness in our heart. And “walk humbly,” that is, recognize that there is little we can do for God except try to abide by his wishes including upholding justice and mercy in a humble way.

Micah 6:8 “act justly, love mercy, walk humbly ...

The first thing Micah says is that God expects us to “act justly.” This is not an appeal for the judicial system to hand down harsher sentences for those who broke the law. Micah is directing his message to every person. It is not enough to wish for justice, or complain that there is a lack of justice. Instead we are to work for justice.
